Scope

This policy applies to all Personnel of the Company.

All Personnel are required to operate and behave in accordance with the Company's Code of Conduct and are encouraged to report known or suspected Unacceptable Conduct using the Whistleblower Arrangements as described in this policy.

The Company has established a framework for reporting, investigating and protecting the confidentiality and privacy of a Whistleblower. This includes both internal and external confidential reporting channels that allow for Personnel to raise concerns regarding Unacceptable Conduct.

Whistleblower Arrangements

Reporting Unacceptable Conduct

Internally

The Company has established internal reporting channels for use by Personnel to report concerns about Unacceptable Conduct to their direct line manager or site manager, and if that is not appropriate, directly to the Company Secretary (Adam Silver) or the Head of People and Culture (Michelle Hannah). At all times, such discussions will remain confidential.

Externally

Where Personnel feel that they are unable to use the internal processes or feel that their concerns have not been adequately addressed, an external independent service with Whistleblowing Service (WBS) is available to report and discuss these matters.

WBS is an external, third-party independent service provider that offers dedicated services 24/7 and can be contacted via the following channels:

WBS – Online	To make a report online, go to whistleblowingservice.org/endura/ and click on the 'Make a Report' button. You will be prompted to insert the following information: Unique Key: Endura Client Reference Number: Endura2026
WBS – Phone	Australia: 1300 687 927 New Zealand: 0800 687 927

Personnel raising a matter may do so anonymously.

Personnel must act in good faith and on reasonable grounds when reporting Unacceptable Conduct on the terms of this policy.

Review and investigation

All matters reported via a Whistleblower channel will be reviewed and investigated by a Whistleblower Protection Officer (WPO). Any matter which does not fit within the defined scope of this policy but is reported via the Whistleblower reporting channels will be directed to the most appropriate functional area for review and follow up.

Whistleblower Protection Officer

The role of the WPO is to:

- investigate reports confidentiality while acting in accordance with this policy and safeguarding the interests of the individual raising the issue;
- ensure that any individual who is the subject of an allegation has the opportunity to respond;
- upon completion of an investigation, report the findings to the Executive Chair who will determine the appropriate response in consultation with the WPO; and
- provide a report of the whistleblower activity and outcomes to the Board.

The WPO will not conduct any investigation which relates to allegations made regarding themselves, their department or any circumstances in which their independence may be questioned, or it would be unreasonable to do so. In this instance, the WPO will appoint a delegate investigator and advise the Executive Chair of that decision.

In a case where the Executive Chair is the subject of the report, or where the Executive Chair has a close relationship with the accused, the WPO must have direct access to another member of the Board. If the Executive Chair is subject to any allegation, the Company's lead independent director and the WPO will determine the appropriate response.

The role of the WPO is nominated by the Executive Chair, endorsed by the Board and is currently the Head of People and Culture (Michelle Hannah).

Investigation process

Upon receiving a complaint covered under this policy, the WPO will ensure that the matter is appropriately addressed and that any investigation will be conducted confidentially and without bias.
